With a combined membership of over 41,000 and assets of nearly $395 million, the new partner credit unions include:

“At myCUMortgage, we strive to help our partner credit unions help more of their members with home ownership—this is why we’re excited about all of the new opportunities these three new partnerships provide,” said Tim Mislansky, President of myCUMortgage. “Together, we can provide mortgage loans that best suit their members’ needs.”

In addition to conventional home loans, all three new partners will also be able to take advantage of government lending through this partnership, including FHA, VA and USDA loans. These government programs offer more flexibility with little- to no-down payment.

“By offering government loans, these credit unions will be able to assist even more of their members in realizing the American dream of home ownership. We welcome them to the myCUMortgage family,” added Mislansky.

With nearly 17 years of mortgage industry experience, myCUMortgage delivers to its partners true collaboration, transparency and a member-centric focus. Services of which partners can take advantage include origination services, processing, underwriting, closing services and member loan servicing. myCUMortgage is dedicated solely to credit union mortgage lending.
